“Our Work is Not Complete Until Our Families are Whole”

May 11 and 12, 2007
Coeur d’Alene, Idaho
Dr. Edwin Hutchinson

Dr. Edwin Hutchinson is the Executive Director of The AMEND Center, the only men’s treatment center in the State of Idaho dedicated to the education and treatment of men.

family counseling to adolescents and adults. He has worked extensively in the field of dysfunctional families, children and adult children of alcoholics, co-dependency, drug and alcohol abuse, men’s recovery issues, depression, sexual abuse, and domestic violence.

Dr. Hutchinson is a dynamic cutting-edge facilitator and therapist who has a no-nonsense and direct style. He has been the facilitator for the Self-Discovery Workshop, a three day experiential accountability seminar that has been offered for fifteen years. This seminar has been credited with changing the lives of families whose dysfunctions have encompassed generations.

Edwin has been instrumental by his facilitation of couple’s and men’s retreats, and corporate training, in offering alternative solutions to what appear to be hopeless situations.

He holds a Master’s Degree in Counseling Psychology, a Master’s Degree in Clinical Social Work, and a Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology. He has specialized education in drug and alcohol abuse, pastoral counseling, high conflict mediation, and the treatment of domestic violence.

Edwin met John Lee some fifteen years ago when he spearheaded bringing John to Salt Lake City, Utah to facilitate a workshop on men’s issues. Since that time, both Edwin and John have continued to work with and provide men with an understanding of who they are and a way to heal themselves.

When asked what he wanted men to get out of attending this gathering, Edwin’s answer was “I would like men to know that even with all the healing work they have done for themselves, they’re not complete until their families are whole.”
John Lee

He has been featured on Oprah Winfrey (three times) 20/20, Barbara Walter’s The View, CNN, PBS, and NPR, and has been interviewed by Newsweek, Glamour, The New York Times, The Los Angeles Times, and dozens of other national magazines and radio talk shows. His highly creative developments in anger management workshops, PEER Counseling seminars, mini-sessions, and the all new Detour Method (lecture and workshop series on facing regression), are taught worldwide. His Mentone, Alabama Men’s Conference, in its thirteenth year, draws participants from around the world.

Over the past twenty years, John Lee has consulted and trained prestigious institutions in the clinical environment. He has worked with The Betty Ford Clinic, Guy’s Hospital, The New York Open Center, South Pacific Treatment Center, and Mountain Area Health and Education Center, and many others.

He is a graduate of the University of North Alabama (B.S., Sociology and English); the University of Alabama (M.A., American Studies and Religious Studies); and the University of Texas (Ph.D. Candidate in American Studies).

An Evening With John Lee

On Friday evening, John will present at an intimate gathering open to the community. He will enlighten the audience on men and their journey.

This is a perfect opportunity for the partners of the men who are attending the gathering to come and meet John and catch a glimpse of some of the topics that their partners will be covering.

People from the community are also welcome to attend.

John Lee’s products will be available for purchase both during the seminar and at his evening presentation.

Refreshments will be served.
